QA Software appoints new sales and marketing GM

Friday, 13 April 2012

INTERNATIONAL provider of information management solutions for the construction and engineering industry, QA Software has announced the appointment of Robert Bryant as general manager, sales and marketing.

Previously part of the general management for Australian research firm, IBISWorld, Bryant brings strong management and sales skills to the role.

Making the appointment, chief executive officer Russell Mortimer said Bryant will be charged with meeting new challenges of company growth.

"Bryant's role will pivot around leading a growing team of business development professionals committed to building long-term client relationships," he said.

Other appointments at the firm include the promotion of long-term member of staff, Yoganathan Sivaram to chief technical officer, and the appointment of Jenny Potts as product support manager.
